★ BRITAIN'S GOT RIVALRY ★

Best untuck the dress, Amanda

DAY Two yesterday of Kelly v Amanda — and Holden looks like she's accidentally tucked her dress into her knickers.

The Britain's Got Talent judge, 37, wore the orange monstrosity to the second day of auditions in Manchester for the ITV1 show.

Rival judge Kelly Brook, 29, looked gorgeous in a flattering purple frock.

We reckon it's war between the duo, who both wore black on Tuesday.

SHOCK IN THE FROCK

Kelly move stuns Ant & Dec

ANT and Dec were left shocked after learning Kelly Brook was joining Britain's Got Talent — just minutes before they got to auditions.

The busty model, 29, arrived at the first day's filming in a stunning frock — while behind the scenes the Georgie duo fumed.

They expected three judges when they went to Manchester on Tuesday.

But soon after arriving, show boss Simon Cowell, 49, announced Kelly was joining the panel. A show source said: "They couldn't believe it. They were expecting to have at least been kept in the loop about it."

"They have no problem with her joining but they just would rather have found out about it in a different way."

The insider added: "It's fair to say there was a tense atmosphere during the auditions."

Cowell only decided to get Kelly on the ITV1 hit last week. She signed her contract on Monday night.
